LEARNING THE FINANCIAL FACTS OF LIFE

THE BLADE/LORI KING

Crystal Goblirsch, right, a senior at Notre Dame Academy, reacts to the information that she "doesn't have any money and has three kids" while she gets her taxes calculated by Brian Hughes, left, who works for Sun Federal Credit Union. Students from four high schools traveled around a life-size game board during a "game" of Finance 1001 at Penta Career Center last week. They learned about typical adult financial responsibilities. The game was arranged by Northwest Ohio Credit Unions.
